In this, the 35th issue, we give Atlanta the most complete City Directory published in the United States. We have in our library the Directories of about all the important towns of America, and a comparison of them with Atlanta's book shows that we give 20 per cent. more information than any other town of this size and carry other features that no town as big as Atlanta carries. We are doing this now and have been doing it since 1898.

While we have 2,620 more names than we had last year, we have by skillful mechanical work been able to put more names on each page; thereby saving 128 pages and making the book more compact and smaller.

We assume that every one realizes how vitally important it is that they should be correctly chronicled in the City Directory, a thing that costs them nothing, but may be of immense value in case of accidents, telegrams, letters, inquiries of relatives, delivery of goods or the many unexpected conditions that arise in the course of human events, in fact a person who neglects to have correct and complete information accorded to himself places himself, his friends and all whom he has dealings with at a serious and sometimes costly disadvantage.

We desire to thank all those who have aided us, in our earnest efforts to give correct and complete information.

We have carefully selected our advertisers, and commend all of them to our readers, as being worthy of their patronage and confidence; they are representative of the most progressive business houses of Atlanta.

POPULATION 209,002

There are 80,890 names in the alphabetical department; 27,000 carry the wife's name; including 4,600 names of residents of adjacent towns. Multiplying the 80,890 names in the alphabetical department by 2¼ gives 182,002 and adding to that the 27,000 wives' names, gives a grand total of 209,002 living in and around Atlanta.

By a careful calculation made from the original canvass, we estimate the population within the new city limits to be 155,470.

Concerning Names Not in the Directory

A few remarks about those whose names are not in the Directory will be permissible.

Do not hold the compilers responsible for every omission, for the fault is not always theirs

There are people who do not wish to have their names in the Directory and they exert themselves in every way to keep away from the nametakers.

While it is certainly no reproach upon people to have their names in the Directory, there are a number of reasons why some wish to have their names kept out of the Directory, all of which reasons are good reasons why the public should find the names in the Directory.

Included in the "Keep-out-Clan" is the super-sensitive persons, suffering from false pride, who shrinks from the exhibition of name and occupation before the public. To this class belong many young ladies and women who are holding respectable positions in the business houses of the city.

Then there is the person who believes that the appearance of his name in the Directory will cause him to be assessed dreadfully by the taxman, so prefers to dodge the issue—and the taxes.

Then there is the man or woman who owes some one and is so fearful of the creditor finding the address that all sorts of subterfuges are resorted to in the endeavor to keep out.

Sometimes a real criminal is hiding from the authorities of this or some other city and he considers the Directory man an enemy.

Really, if you are not living at home with your parents and your name is not in the Directory, it is somewhat of a reproach upon you, for if you are living at a respectable address and employed at a decent place, it is to your advantage to have the fact known. The City Directory establishes a respectability for people. It classifies them as having a regular address in the city, guarantees the correct delivery of mail and gives them something to refer to in case they need identification.

It oft times happens that the reason a name isn't found is because the seeker doesn't know how to spell it. Directories are arranged in exact alphabetical order, and many names of similar pronunciation have widely different spellings; as follows:

Cadle, Kadle, Keadle
Cain, Kain, Kane
Caldwell, Colwell
Calhoun, Colhoun
Camp, Campe, Kamp
Carey, Cary, Karie
Carnes, Karns
Carr, Karr, Kerr, Korr
Cay, Kay
Clein, Cline, Klein, Kline
Coker Kocher
Lea, Leah, Lee, Leigh
Kile, Kyle
Leibman, Liebman
MacLean, McLain, McLean
MacDonald, McDonald
MeGee, McGahee, McGehee, McGaughey
Magill, McGill
McFail, McPhail
Maier, Meyer, Myer
Rhein, Ryan
Schmid, Schmidt, Smith, Smyth
Shane, Schane, Scheine

And numerous others, so the person you are looking for may be in the book if you know how to spell their name.

The City Directory is a matter of great importance to the community, for it clearly potrays the city and its people and institutions and the growth and progress as no other work can. Every individual is interested and should be represented in it and it is a matter of vital importance that he be accurately represented.

This, the Official Atlanta City Direcotry, has had the advantage of a large force of trained, competent and industrious directory men, and every facility was provided and maintained for making the work a model of completeness and accuracy. We take every precaution known to our business in order to miss no one, and our great care in visiting every house, office and place of business, together with the publicity the work has and the knowledge of the public of the regularity of the work each year assures as accurate a census as is possible to attain.
